

Call for Papers:
2010 International Symposium on Chinese Spoken
Language Processing (ISCSLP 2010)
November 29 – December 3, 2010 - Tainan and Sun Moon Lake

<http://conf.ncku.edu.tw/iscslp2010/>

ISCSLP is the flagship conference of ISCA SIG-CSLP (International Speech Communication Association, Special Interest Group on Chinese Spoken Language Processing). ISCSLP2010 will be held during November 29 - December 3, 2010 in Tainan and Sun Moon Lake hosted by National Cheng Kung University.

Tainan, located in south-western Taiwan, is the city of cultural origin. There are many historical places and heritage sites. In addition, Tainan is a modern city with various shopping centers, department stores, and night markets. It will be a wonderful opportunity to experience Taiwanese cultures when you visit Tainan.

Sun Moon Lake, the largest lake located in central Taiwan, is a beautiful alpine lake, with its eastern part rounded like the sun and the western side shaped like a crescent moon. Its crystalline, emerald green body of water reflects the hills and mountains surrounding on all sides. Its natural beauty is further enhanced by numerous cultural and historical sites.

We invite your participation in this premier conference, where the language from ancient civilizations embraces modern computing technology. ISCSLP 2010 will feature world-renowned plenary speakers, tutorials, exhibits, and a number of lecture and poster sessions on the following topics:

1. Speech Production and Perception
2. Phonetics and Phonology
3. Speech Analysis
4. Speech Coding
5. Speech Enhancement
6. Speech Recognition
7. Speech Synthesis
8. Language Modeling and Spoken Language Understanding
9. Spoken Dialog Systems
10. Spoken Language Translation
11. Speaker and Language Recognition
12. Computer-Assisted Language Learning
13. Indexing, Retrieval and Authoring of Speech Signals
14. Multi-Modal Interface including Spoken Language Processing
15. Spoken Language Resources and Technology Evaluation
16. Applications of Spoken Language Processing Technology
